

THE HOUSETM OF ARTS

[Handwritten signature]

Afro-Cuban artist Ken "Tsunami" Shep, a versatile contemporary artist unconfined to a singular medium, has seamlessly woven his celestial creations across a vast canvas that spans digital media, metal, acrylic, oil paint, airbrush, 3D printing, photography, cinematography, and mixed mediums. The inspiration behind his multifaceted works draws from the rich tapestry of spirituality, futurism, science fiction, human anatomy, and metaphysics.

Tsunami's new series, "Black Ballet," made its international debut at the 2023 London Art Biennale and was featured at the 2023 Art Expo in New York. The artist is now gearing up to debut at Miami's Art Basel. Intricately incorporating human anatomy into his creations, Tsunami believes in art as a potent tool that ignites essential dialogues about the traumas shaping our past, dictating our present, and casting shadows on our future. These dialogues aim not only to recognize but also to bridge the chasms hindering self-love and acceptance.

Tsunami's transcendent artworks have captured the attention of cultural icons like Kanye West, Cardi B, Rick Ross, and Dawn Richards. His seamless blend of pop culture and fine art has been further enriched by experiences in the fashion and entertainment industries, effortlessly transcending the boundaries of commercial art. Notably, his art pieces have adorned album covers, videos, and other spaces within the music entertainment industry for artists such as Dawn Richard, Rick Ross, Big Boi of Outkast, and Killer Mike. Moreover, the film company Disguise Systems has featured his new mask designs in Disney's Mandalorian.

Tsunami has also completed an accessory collaboration with designer Oscar Utierre, who has been featured in Vogue.

In Tsunami's own words, "Everything is Art. It's necessary. It's in everything. It's the closest thing to being like God. Why? Because you're the creator."
